Developing Your School Leadership Profile

Purposes:

To provide school leaders with the opportunity to examine their own school leadership practices with respect the knowledge, dispositions and performances contained within the ISLLC School Leader Standards.

This reflection may lead to greater familiarity with the Standards and provide a starting point to assist you in identifying potential areas of focus for personal professional development planning.

Instructions:

This reflective inventory is designed to provide a personal profile of your school leadership assets based on the ISLLC Standards for School Leaders. Responding to each statement will reflect what you have learned, what you believe and value, and what you are accomplishing as a school leader.

Read each statement carefully. You may indicate the extent to which each statement represents your practices during the past 10-12 months by indicating areas for assistance described in each statement. The key will assist you in your reflection.

The completion of this task will display areas of relative strength with respect to each Standard.

Guiding Principles

- Standards should reflect the centrality of student learning.
- Standards should acknowledge the changing role of the school leader.
- Standards should recognize the collaborative nature of school leadership.
- Standards should be high, upgrading the quality of the profession.
- Standards should inform performance-based systems of assessment and evaluation for school leaders.
- Standards should be integrated and coherent.
- Standards should be predicated on the concepts of access, opportunity, and empowerment for all members of the school community.
